Drafts zone.

30th of April.

As I promised during my journey to drawing and movie making world I will check my not finished drafts. At first drafts which on my table, the one to which I return time to time.

It probably not noticeable for sure, but I ruthless to my not published texts. I could refuse from idea if what I receive it's not what I wanted. But when I have interesting parts I try to invent from this bearable story.

In red I highlighted lines which I used in short story. Everything else left untouched in not finished play from October 2017.

This is first draft of short story with taste of mystery. I invented how to use parts of the different stories and write absolutely new idea from it. It was made during my attempt to find taste in text with dialogues again and this time not theatre play.

Zone of drafts could be dangerous when you want to safe all your ideas, but endless fun when you use it as toys on playground.

I will revise this story and check if there enough not dialogues to count it as short story text. In story are recognizable roots of few my obsessions, which already were mentioned in my previous texts. And it will be further story of one earliest on English my theater play character's.
