

Chat near fireplace.

Kate AKS

- And? - Asked Ann.

- The same I could ask you. - Answered Mary.

- Probably you are right. But it was one day. - Reminded Ann.

- Yes. One long day. Day... - Started Mary.

- Don't start. We decided – any guilt.

- Any guilt. - Agreed Mary. - Just for one day.

- Should we return to our plans? - Asked Ann and looked to the skis which stayed near the wall. She with Mary sat near fireplace, was already eleven o'clock in the morning and everyone else already were on fresh air and adore snow.

- Yes. Healthy lifestyle. - Nodded Mary.

- Chocolate, compliment from hotel. - Proposed waiter who came to them.

- Thanks, no. - Answered Mary.

- We are on diet. - Said Ann. - Thank you. Two orange fresh, please.

- In a moment. - Said waiter and walked away.

- Orange juice is healthy life, Mary. Yes? - Asked Ann.

- You were right, Ann. Return to it was such easy. - Agreed Mary.

- Strong habit, main secret. - Nodded Ann.

- How many? - Asked waiter maid and nodded in the direction of two women who drank orange juice near fireplace.

- Fifty two empty boxes of chocolate. - Said maid.

- Healthy lifestyle is tough business. - Winked waiter.
