

Starting point.

by Kate AKS

- I will manage it, I change myself. I will be other person, I just need starting point for that.

Today I will be in love with other person. Today I will smile and cry. I just need this starting point. It change everything, it will help me.

I will find power to won a war and loose it also. I will love and be loved, I will betray and will be betrayed. I will find a friend and meet an enemy. I will be born, I will be dead.

I will live short life in the long life. I will lost everything and find all.

I need this starting point to be ready. I need this power which makes me strong and weak. I need to lost myself to find other.

I close my eyes to find peace. I close my eyes to find rage. I close my eyes to see anew. I close my eyes and start again.

- Five minute call. - Loud voice inside the theater.

- Now!
