

Kate Aksonova. Cups conversation.

Fairy-tale for adults.

- I am the most important cup in this house, - Said Red Cup.

- Who said that? - Asked Yellow Cup.

- Life.

- Life? - Repeated Yellow Cup.

- Who wakes up first in the morning? - Asked Red Cup.

- Mother. - Answered Green Cup.

- Mother. And I am Mother's favorite cup. I wake up first, without me no one will remember about you.

- You are probably wakes up first, but I know all news. - Remind Green Cup.

- You are Father's cup, you read all newspapers. - Agreed Yellow Cup.

- And you could more time spend near study books, not near TV. - Said Green Cup.

- You like father, always believe that I do nothing after school.

- Remember, Green Cup read all your grades with Father. - Said Red Cup.

- Than who is main? - Add tiny voice little Blue Cup.

- To Mother say it's Mother, to Father say it's Father. - Said Yellow Cup.

- To what you teach tiny cups without life experience? - Said Green Cup.

- It never worked with me, when I try to find understanding with grades, maybe to them help. - Explained itself Yellow Cup.

- Maybe to spend time on studying? - Said Red Cup.

- I think it could be possible to give a try to that idea. - Agreed Yellow Cup.

- I am still in kindergarten. - Remind Blue Cup.

- I am all the time at home. - Added uncertain voice tiniest Orange Cup.

- Good. Than you can decide, who is most important from all cups. - Said Red Cup.

- I? I can't decide that. - Said Orange Cup.

- You could try. - Said Yellow Cup.

- Who do you miss the most? - Asked Blue Cup.

- I? I? - Said Orange Cup.

- Don't be scary. Say it. - Said Green Cup.

- I like when all cups are on the table, together and all are with warm milk. - Said Orange Cup.

- Good that this problem we solved. - Said Green Cup.

- Together. - Agreed Red Cup.
